FIRST AND SECOND GRADES

On September 5, 1949 eleven timid boys and girls walked hesitantly into school for the first time. All was peace and silent for one week, then our fear was lost for our upperclassmates--10 second graders. We were acquainted.

Since that first week four transient pupils have enrolled in our room.

The lessons, books we have read, many things we've made, and the games have really been fun.

During the winter we have helped present two school assemblies. The one in October we put on a Halloween Parade, the other in February. We dressed up as famous people and told of their birthdays in the month.

Our Christmas operetta, with it's costumes, and party was a thrill.

When the P. T. A. put on a membership drive and offered a trip to the Telephone Building, Western Union Telegraph Office and the Holbrook Tribune News taught as many things.

We also won the Arizona State Flag the first month from the P. T. A. having the most parents attend their meeting.

Since the New Year we have been trying hard to learn good health habits. Our work on a safety unit was also to our benefit.

After such a happy year we are all looking forward with keen interest to the coming years.

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADE

During the month of September the third and fourth grades worked out a unit on our community which progressed into an Indian unit.

In October we made a Pueblo and a Hogan. Colleted Indian pictures and souvenirs then gave an assembly program about Indians and Columbus.

We then studied the scenic wonders of the United States. Several children brought their view masters and films of different scenes.

In December the first six grades gave a Christmas operetta. We had a Christmas party and exchanged gifts.

In January we had a health unit. We made health booklets and saw a few health pictures.

In February the first four grades gave an assembly program about the famous birthdays of the month. The third and fourth grade gave a Lincoln and Washington play and had a Valentine Party.

We have been learning to play flutes and played two numbers for P. T. A. in February.

We are planning a unit on communication and safety and an all day trip to some place of interest will conclude the years activities.

We are very proud of our sixth grade class. It is the smallest class in our school. They make up in quality what they don't have in quantity, for they are all quite smart students.

THE FIFTH GRADE

The fifth grade have been studying about the gold rush in California, so they decided to make a mural showing different scenes that happened. We think the mural turned out very well.

We had a new boy from Winslow come to the fifth grade this year. His name is Ronald Green. Ronald didn't get to stay long because he got polio and was taken to the hospital in Phoenix. Ronald is much improved now and is able to walk with a little help.

SIXTH GRADE

On Halloween, Mary Pickett gave the fifth and sixth grades a party at school. We played games and had a Pinata.

Just before Christmas several boys and girls decorated our room with Christmas scenes.

The sixth grade was studying about different explorers and we decided to make a mural about Stanley and Livingstone. It was very good.

Mrs. Hatch gave us a Valentine party. Bobby Brewer and JoAnn Pickett made the Valenine box. We played games, gave out valentines after which refreshments were served.

We plan to take a hike as soon as the weather permits. We are also planning on an assembly and a school picnic which will come later this spring.

SEVENTH GRADE

Our class can brag about our number, the lucky thirteen. We are happy and carefree. We can talk and argue more than any group in school. We also love our teachers (maybe) and our scholastic work.

We have a fairly good basketball team. We haven't beaten the eighth grade, yet, but we're working in hopes . We did overpower the fifth and sixth grades and helped to take Woodruff.

EIGHTH GRADE

This year the eighth grade class has had a continuous membership of nine pupils. We have done well in our studies and have also developed a fairly good basketball team. We are very proud of it. The totals of our games----88. Our opponents totals----91.

BAND AND CHORUS DURING 1949 AND 50

The band of 1949 and 50 consists of eighteen members. The instruments played are three drums, one bass horn, three clarinets, five trombones, one baritone and five trumpets.

We have band practice three days out of the week.

On November 26th, the band marched in the Christmas Parade at Winslow. There we won second prize of twenty dollars. At Christmas time we played several numbers in the school program; then on February 28th we entertained the M. I. A. by playing in the preliminary program. On March 24th Joseph City Founders Day we marched in the parade, playing three numbers on the march. Out three majorettes are Clara Brewer, Dorthy Hatch, and Yvette Despain. As it had been our plan to exchange programs with the Snowflake School, we took our band up there on the 18th of April.

Our chorus is a mixed group of twenty-six members, who practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Usually we sing three parts, soprano, alto and bass. Nelda Westover plays the piano for us. We took part in the Christmas program on December 21st and have sung in the two or three of the school assemblies here in Joseph City. We also went to Snowflake with the band on April 18th.

We have all enjoyed being a part of the band or chorus and are proud of them.

FIRST FRESHMAN FROLIC

The fifteenth of September dawned bright and warm on the first day of the Freshman Initiation. The pride and joy of the high school room appeared with their clothes on wrong side out and backwards. (They had on the cutest little green hats too.) They were greeted by cruel Sophomores with tubes of lipstick, who at once proceeded to improve their looks. This was accomplished by adding full lips, red shiny noses, and the latest hair-dos. A startling improvement to be sure. Since we didn't want them to get their feet dirty, as they only bathe once a year, the Sophomores generously provided them with a coating of black shoe polish on their feet. But as a typical Freshman they were ungrateful and didn't even appreciate our trouble. Because they were received somewhat cooly by some of the other students, the Sophomore boys hastened to warm them up. (Those paddles really did the job.)

During the day they made their appearance in the various rooms as a string of slaves. A very becoming role. They were taken up town and some unknowing person offered us 10 cents for the bunch of them. But we didn't take advantage of their ignorance and kept them for someone who knew them and would offer us a more reasonable price. About 2 cents is what we were asking, I believe. As a reward for good behavior, they were given their shoes at noon with which to walk home.

The second day, the sweet, innocent things appeared in gunny sacks and clod-hopper shoes. Imagine! They have no sense of good dressing. They were very respectful and humble, as during both days they entered and left the class room on their hands and knees. They also bowed respectfully to all the lofty Sophomores and teachers.

Their greatest pleasure came for the Assembly we gave them the afternoon of the second day. They lined up and sang several songs quite nicely. The boys even played imaginery guitars while the girls did a real Hula-hula dance. Dorothy and Twila got to eat marshmallow topping. (Lucky things.) Their eating manners showed up terribly. Both had it from one end of each other to the other. I know I could have fed Dorothy better than that if I had been the one to be blindfolded. Since they had all responded so well we served them spice cake and lemonade as a final touch. Doreen and I got mixed up on the recipe so we just tossed in a lot of chili power and cayenne pepper along with some other hot things for good measure. Somehow soap got into the lemon icing and we are still trying to explain how the lemonade turned out to be nothing but slightly yellow water. Well they can't be choosy; we gave the party. Of course Donna, Raymond, and Dorothy took the prizes for looking the best. Three mechanical pencils nearly broke us.

I know the Freshmen were really sorry after it was all over with, though they never admitted it. We gave them a humdinger of a party that Friday night to ease their injured feelings.

Well they must have learned something in those two short wonderful days because we've been able to live with them in school ever since.

1949 AND 50 ATHLETICS

Our 1949 and 50 Physical Education Class have enjoyed an average year of athletic events in softball, basketball, and baseball. We overpowered our common rival, Snowflake, in softball early in the fall of 1949.

We took Sanders in two basketball games, Winslow one, and Holbrook one. We have scheduled baseball games with Holbrook, Snowflake, and Winslow.

We feel that we have a fair baseball team this year.

We feel that we have had fair basketball games this season.
